BOOGALOO FOR TWO

Daryl McKenzie

Duration: 5'20"

Level: 4

Program Notes:

Boogaloo for Two was originally composed as a play-on theme for the Australian variety television show "Hey Hey It's Saturday" in the 1990's. The Daryl McKenzie Jazz Orchestra on their 2008 CD "It's About Time" recorded a big band version. This arrangement is a slightly simplified version for level 4 bands. Boogaloo for Two is technically not a boogaloo but more of a classic funk tune.

Performance Notes:

There are sections in this chart where the piano and guitar are free to comp as they feel it. Listen carefully to the style of the great soul & funk artists including Aretha Franklin, James Brown and even Tower of Power to understand the roles of each rhythm section instrument. Piano should use a classic Rhodes sound while the guitar should be using a clean sound and a wah-wah pedal. The percussion part is written as a congas part but there are sections where this could be a shaker or tambourine.

Observe dynamics and exaggerate the dynamic range by making the softs really soft. The loud dynamics often take care of themselves in young bands! Intonation will be vital in some of the altered and extended harmonies.

Ensure that unison sections are not overplayed and that forte-pianos have plenty of the piano part so that counter-lines can come through.

Make sure the backing figures in the solo section don't overpower the soloist - adjust the dynamic if necessary. The first solo at [D] can be played by any trumpet, trombone or piano or guitar. Following the first solo is a feature for each section of the band. Make sure the tempo is maintained in the stop-time sections. The second solo can be played by any saxophone, piano or guitar. Again, the backing figures need to be subordinate to the soloist.

In the last two bars, there should be no slowing of the tempo. Remember - don't race! Enjoy!
